

Tabzon is a free on-line In-Out board that would enable someone to look to see who is in and who is out.

It is available to start using at: <http://tabzon.com> and all you have to do is click on the blue “SIGN UP” button, give your work email and a password of your choosing, and then continue. If you were invited through email, you just start up through that link.

People, I understand, tend not to use the sliding magnets we have already have so it could be that they wouldn't go through the effort of logging into this service, keeping a small window to it open to change their status, and when they go out, indicate their availability one way or another.

But if it were deemed worth having in operation, here are a few of the screens.

This is the main home screen. It shows the handful of people I've (initially) invited to the list but it shows that I am "Available" below my name. "Pending Action" is beneath the name of each of the few others I've invited to try it out because they have not yet signed on and have not set up indicators of activity. I added an activity to my profile called "Out of the Office" and erased one called "Busy." Those possible status indicators appear over to the right of this home page. Right now, the status options I have showing below are: "Available," "Unavailable," and "Out of the Office."

The way you update your status is to click on one of the colored circles (next to UPDATE button) and it will put that word or phrase up under your name over to the left. Others on the list can, then, see your status. This might be very helpful to a Receptionist or an Administrative Assistant needing to know of someone's availability.

The screenshot shows the TABZON dashboard interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the TABZON logo, a settings gear icon, 'SETTINGS', a profile icon, 'PROFILE', and an 'EXIT ONLY' button. Below the navigation bar, there is a 'Select: All / None' option. The main content area features a list of users with their names, status, and a small profile picture. The first user, Philip Siddons, is highlighted in yellow and has a status of 'Available' with a green circle. The other users are in a grey state with a status of 'Pending Activation' and a grey circle. At the bottom of the list is a blue 'ADD A PERSON' button. To the right of the list is a 'Quick Click' panel with an 'UPDATE' button and three colored circles (green, orange, red). Below this panel is a section titled 'IN-OUT BOARD The Blog' with three links: 'Dashboard Integration Case Study', 'How Tabzon Came To Be', and 'Phone App In Beta'. At the bottom right, there is a logo for 'DIGITAL FUSION' with the text 'Designed & Developed by' and 'DATA AND WEB SOLUTIONS'.

Name	Status	Time
Philip Siddons	Available	1 min ago
Brenda McDuffie	Pending Activation
Dan MacNeal	Pending Activation
Grace Tate	Pending Activation
Pam Arbogast	Pending Activation
Michelle Simpson-McKinnon	Pending Activation
Lewanda Alston	Pending Activation

In the Profile page, (that you see in this screen below), it is where you can add or remove status descriptions. It was here that I hit the “X” next to “Busy” (one that comes with it when you first open it up) and that action took that phrase out of the list. I then typed in “Out of the Office” and clicked on the big blue “Add Quick Click” button (which put that in the list of status messages).

The screenshot shows the 'Profile' page of the TABZON system. The header includes 'TABZON HOME', 'SETTINGS', 'PROFILE', and 'EXIT ONLY'. The main content area is titled 'Profile' and 'Edit Your Profile, Quick Clicks & Password'. It features two tabs: 'Edit Profile' (active) and 'Change Password'. The 'Edit Profile' section contains fields for Avatar (with a 'Remove Avatar' button), Name (Philip Siddons), Email (psiddons@buffalourbanleague.org), Phone Extension (2422), and Mobile (716.877.2500). A 'Save Profile' button is at the bottom. The 'Quick Clicks' section on the right lists 'Available', 'Unavailable', 'Busy', and 'Out of the Office', each with a remove button. An 'Add Quick Click' button is at the bottom right of this section.

So there it is. It is free but everyone would have to be diligent in keeping it current on themselves for it to work.

. . . Philip
